I am trying to place a radio button or check box on all pages of my site that when clicked will update the user's theme selection and save that update for the current and future sessions. Though it is possible for user to save their theme settings through the Edit Account screen, I would like to present my users with a more easily seen option for updating saving their theme settings.

XT-Temas, available at www.xoops.net.br did exactly what I am looking for - in XOOPS 2.0.x. Unfortunately, I cannot get XT-Temas to work with XOOPS 2.2.3a-final.

Does anyone know of a custom block or an updated module that will allow me to easily add a theme select and save function to all my pages?

Thank you for any suggestions you may have.
