My proposal is based on the sucessfull example of www.xoops.net.br.

Thanks Kaotik, more community with some ideal

They use an anual rotation system for the website administrator. This allows them to continually inject fresh ideias and captivate new members into their teams. For people who are unfamiliar with this support site, let me elaborate a bit more on their sucess story.

They started out as any other standard support site, with some members and a lot of good faith. Through various inovative concepts they quickly gained members and started to build a comunity that transcended their own language barrier. They have even been able to develop their own modules based on member donations. Their experience could be used in implementing a similar sytem here at xoops.org

So my proposal is: Herko would still lead the XOOPS foundation but the xoops.org site would have an anual (or bianual, the time frame would of course be decided by the community) administrator that could be either; a) elected by the community or b) apointed by a core team.

This of course is only an initial proposal but one I feel confident would bring many benefits to the xoops.org site.

Yes, I agree to, was exist outhter options too

My english is very poor por explicat here.

In Brasil i go to one proposal and sugestions and send for Administration Xoops.org for one help, if necessary

Thanks and long life Xoops.

About outhter comments, yes agree in alguns, good ideas too, outras n?o.
