

Subject: XOOPS Project Teams

Topic: Local support site contents

Re: Local support site contents

Posted by: BlueStocking

Posted on: : 1182564460

URL:

by irmtfan on 2007/6/22 20:50:03

This site <http://www.xoops.net.br/> is for XOOPS users to use until something is opened up at XOOPS for the language purpose.

GO TO the community portal.

http://www.xoops.net.br/index.php?title=Wikipedia:Community_Portal

See if you can add your link following the format there.

I truly would like for you to make a post in your own native language, whatever it is and then I will let google translate it into English. Then you can come back and show the proper translation by another edit added to the page.

I am not interested in having this as a personal website, just maintaining it so that we may develop some other ideas that seems bogged down in red-tape.

I want the native language and the english version on the same page. This will help me as time goes by to be more familiar with the foreign language. Patterns should start to emerge.